Gender Circle Group Project:

For your first round of group projects, you must compete the following projects. Submit a Group Contract in Google docs and share that file with the group members. One group member should create this document in their "in progress" folder for our class and share it with the other members. These Group Contracts should contain the SPECIFIC, ASSIGNED duties of every member of the group, deadlines the group determines for work to be done (I suggest deadlines along the way so as not to get behind), and SPECIFIC procedures to be taken if group members do not meet the expectations of the group. Note* no member can be fired beyond one week prior to presenting the presentation. Group Contracts are due in the submitted folder by FRIDAY, Nov, 14th.

Book Trailer
• Create a video that serves as an advertisement for your book. Should be 2 minutes in length, include action shots that hint at the plot of the book, reviews about the book, and should be persuasive in nature by making the audience want to read this book.

Biological Character Timeline
• A digital depiction through the eyes of one of the main characters in the book throughout the plot of the book.
• This should include inside thoughts or feelings the character experiences throughout the text and should have a modern day tone. So, if the character was tweeting or instagraming, or facebooking, or vine-ing, through this story, what would it look like. Depending on what medium you choose to create this will determine the amount of entries you must have.

Travel Itinerary
• Should be a record of all of the major locations that the main characters travel to or are important to them; where major events in the text occur.
• Each location should contain:
    • a map of the location
    • images, satellite or photographic, of the location
    • an excerpt from the text that has that mentions the location
    • a brief explanation of the importance of this location to the development of the story
• You may use whatever tool you think works the best for this project. Some examples are Google Lit Trips, screen casting tools, key note, Google Slides, iMovie, or other video creation tools, etc.

THESE PROJECTS WILL BE PRESENTED ON FRIDAY, DECEMBER 5TH
